It's been 16 productive years since Arthur S. Levine, the John and Gertrude Petersen Dean and senior vice chancellor for the health sciences, was recruited to the University of Pittsburgh. Take a gander at some of these impressive figures on the health sciences. Pitt has made an extraordinary climb during that tenure—ascending as the country has lived through some serious swells and groans (mostly groans) in National Institutes of Health funding. Things won’t get easier with clinical revenue streams likely diminishing. Strategic community, industry, and international partnerships have become key. And with long-standing talent and topnotch recruits streaming across campus, Levine is confident Pitt will continue to rise.
